Samuel Chandler Fractured Family

'The Fractured Family," by Dr. Leontine Young is a significant book. Listen.

'It - the family - is needed more, not less, because there is now no other structure to fulfill the greatest of all needs, the development of a person. The school may teach a child to read, but it cannot teach him to love. Book knowledge may produce scientific competence, but only life knowledge produces competence in living. Only the family can teach the most basic knowledge there is: how to live. When the family fails, there is no other social institution to fill the vacuum. Even religion, which not only supported family strength but stepped in to compensate for family tragedy and weakness, has lost its old authority

These are sobering words and should be considered in an age when divorce is easy to obtain. Breaking up the family, Dr. Young writes," "destroys the soul." She states that maintaining the family requires "adapting to the demands of survival" and to looking ahead. "What is of concern now is what life will be 40 years from now.

Commenting on that thought, Dr. Young writes that because of fractured families "... so many people have been uprooted that there is no one to share common memories with, to make them important, to bring them perspectives as part of the life process. And so these people are separated from a part of themselves, left in a queer half-world, without the strong emotions that attach to

In a Chapter about the adjustment of people over 50 to our age of swirling changes, Dr. Young writes of a posture that is foreign to story book reactions and one which divorce courts can't recognize, yet, it seems to me, husbands and wives, must adopt it if they are to be partners and if they are to be successful parents." The trouble is that life isn't usually an all-or nothing affair. There are only a few grievances worth all-out effort, and nobody has the energy for many of those anyway. Innocent simplifications are not very proctical for dealing with the complexities of

She ovserves that the age of the fractured family requires that the generations realize that they need each other. "The older generations who have lived through so much have the greatest challenge of all - to find again ast and to make it relevant to the present and the future. Youth may not be aware of it vet, but they're going to need that past, and their need will be great.

Dr. Young's book is not so much a book about preserv ing marriages as it is a study of the family as an institution. She sees the family as a continually evolving institution that remains the best defense in a society against the development of an Orwellian culture that might raise children in groups and let them grow into shells that look like people but have no morals to govern them.

One of the chapters discusses life without father Another is entitled "What Happened to Mother." This chapter warns that today "Whether women work or stay at home, they are entangled in the conflicts and divisions of a society that does not really know what it wants of them.

Chapter Five is entitled "A Family Needs a Heart." In it the heart is defined as the person who provides the home base for everyone, who knows where everyone is and how everyone is getting along." The person who is the heart has a hard job nowadays. "He faces obstacles that earlier generations scarcely knew," but without him or her the loss of kinship becomes a reality. In society our kinship for each other ties "the desperate parts" together.

Dr. Leontine Young writes out of knowledge as well as conviction. She is a social worker and executive director of the Newark Child Service Association. Her previous books include "Out of Wedlock," "Wednesday's Children" and 'Life Among the Giants.

Good morning, good cooks

For the past two weeks this column has been sweetly concentrating on desserts, which happen to be my favorite part of the meal. But now it seems we must forget the sweet tooth and think of more solid eating. And what could be more solid than an entree of meat balls and rice?

This recipe makes a dish that is solid, but far from plain. It's rather exotic and makes an attractive and tasty entree that serves six.

MEAT BALLS JAPANESE STYLE

1 pound ground round 14 cup fine bread crumbs

- two-thirds cup chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper Two-thirds cup evaporated milk

2 tablespoons butter

Mix together the pound ground beef, one-fourth cup bread crumbs, two-thirds cup each chopped onion and evaporated milk, one teaspoon salt and dash of pepper in a medium size mixing bowl. Shape into 12 meat balls

Melt the two tablespoons butter in a large skillet over medium heat. Add the meatballs, turning occasionally to brown on all sides.

Note: In place of the fine bread crumbs, one of the following may be used as an extender: 14 cup uncooked corn meal, or two-thirds cup rolled oats or one cup soft bread crumbs (approximately 112 slices bread pulled into crumbs), or 14 cup finely crushed corn flake crumbs, or 14 cup cracker crumbs.

While the meat balls are browning, combine the following ingredients.

- 1 can (19 oz.) bean sprouts
- 14 cup corn starch
- 14 cup water
- 14 cup soy sauce 11/2 cups thinly sliced onions
- 1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms (about 3 ounces)

1 cup shredded raw spinach

Drain the can bean sprouts, saving liquid. Mix the onefourth cup each corn starch and water in a small bowl to make a smooth paste. Stir in the liquid from the bean spronts (there should be 112 cups; if not add water to make that amount), then stir in the one-fourth cup soy sauce,

Pour over browned meat balls. Bring to a boil over medium heat. Cover skillet tightly, turn heat to low and simmer until thickened and the sauce is clear, about 20 minutes. Add the one and one-half cups sliced onions, one cup sliced mushrooms and one cup shredded spinach and the drained bean sprouts. Cover and simmer 5 minutes longer. Serve over 4 cups hot cooked rice.

Note: A 4-oz. can sliced mushrooms may be substituted for the fresh. Drain and save liquid. Use all the mushroom liquid in place of water to mix corn starch. A package (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach may be used in place of the fresh. After meat balls are browned, push to one side of the skillet: add the unthawed spinach and pour corn starch mixture over and cook as directed. 20 to 25 minutes

...... Father Patzelt's Story ......

'The Devil Is a Reality'

The devil was in the air this past winter in the Bay Area. The atmosphere was highly charged with reports of exorcism. demonism and the presence of Satan.

The media, eager to leap on this unusual bandwagon, delighted in whipping the unknowing populace into a froth with daily news of strange happenings and weird, unexplained events.

The cometition to produce fresh stories of the bizarre and the odd reached frenzied proportions by mid-January

Suddenly, into this maelstrom of irrationality strode the Rev. Karl Patzelt, a Jesuit priest from San Francisco.

His revelations were astounding: He had performed an exorcism in, of all places. Daly City in San Mateo County, and had worked on other similar cases in other parts of the Bay region

The Daly City family had complained of being harassed for months by a series of unnatural and inexplicable acts which, religious authorities contend, were caused by demonic forces

The case was described as being one of demonic obsession and it involved several members of the family

Within a few days. Father Patzelt was being hounded by reporters for more information. He went to New York and appeared on a national television show. He enraged his superiors in the Archdiocese of San Francisco and he was eventually ordered to cease his discussions of the occult. He complied.

Just as quickly as he had emerged on the scene. Father Patzelt was suddenly gone again, having chosen to retreat to his Catholic Russian Center at the corner of 20th Avenue and Lake Street.

In some respects, this man had become as much of a mystery as the very story he was trying to tell.

Who is Father Karl Patzelt? On a warm, brilliant afternoon in the spring, a knock on the side door of the Catholic Russian Center brings Father Patzelt down from upstairs He opens the door and extends his hand in welcome. "Ah, it is good of you to come," he says pleasantly, leading his visitor through a narrow series of corridors and up into his sitting room above the clamor on the street below The room is kept relatively dark even at this hour. There is the aroma of incense and a faint musk permeating the room. There are religious pictures on the walls and a no smoking sign over the fireplace. Someone on another floor is pacing up and down, causing the boards to groan and Father Patzelt sits down on a cushioned bench and places his large, powerful hands beneath his thighs and begins to talk. He is not a big man. He is wearing the tradi ional priestly garb, black coat and pants Roman collar and a pair of small, rubber soled canvas shoes. He kicks his feet back and forth as he speaks.

'My life seems to zig-zag all over the place." he says, "but it is really a straight

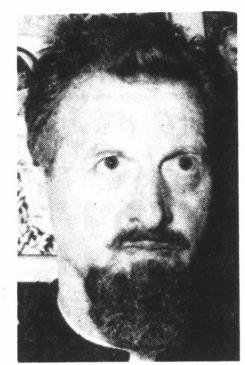

Father Patzelt, bearded, his hair graying, is 57 now, a native of Warnsdorf in northern Czechoslovakia. He has three brothers who live in Sweden. For this Jesuit. World War II was probably the turning point in his life as it was for so many other people in Europe.

Warnsdorf is near the border with Germany, not too far from Dresden and about 65 miles north of Prague. When Patzelt was born there, the place had a booming population of about 23.000 people. Now, it has less than 8,000, evidence of the kind of turmoil the city has seen over the past 40 years. Father Patzelt hasn't been back to his home town since the early days of the

As a German living within the borders of Czechoslovakia so close to Germany young Patzelt was swept up in the tide of war which engulfed his country in 1938, the year when the Nazi army invaded the Sudetenland to "liberate" the Germans living there. Patzelt was among them.

When the German army came, Patzelt was 21. He was enrolled in a diocesan seminary. Thinking quickly as a European war approached. Patzelt and some of his seminarian colleagues joined the Red Cross, hoping to keep themselves out of the German army. It worked, but only to a medical corps. 'This was our survival," Father Patz elt remembers. "We were far behind the Patzelt was so far behind the lines that it probably saved his life.

After a stint on the western front during Germany's invasion of Holland, Belgium and France. Patzelt went to the occupied territories of Poland as the mammoth Nazi buildup for the invasion of Russia began in the fall of 1940.

Having already begun to learn the Russian language while in France. Patzell knew that this knowledge would be useful when the German juggernaut moved into the Soviet Union. In the summer of 1941, the war between the two powers began. Patzelt was part of the German Sixth Army which was headed for southern Russia and a date with Stalin-

However. Patzelt's medical corps was partly a horse company and it was so slow that it could not keep up with the quickly advancing troops. The medical group was finally severed from the Sixth Army and attached to the army which was pushing into central Russia

In 1945, Patzelt was finally captured by the Russian army in East Prussia. He was taken to Estonia where he was kept in prison for more than four years. He was not released until December of 1949. During his period in prison, his ability to speak Russian aided Patzelt immensely and he rose rapidly into a position of some authority on an engineering team which was laboring on a construction project.

On his release from prison, Patzelt sought to re-enter a seminary to complete his theological training. He inquired about joining a Jesuit seminary in Germany and was accepted. He entered it in 1950.

From then on, his knowledge of the Russian language and of the Russian people were destined to keep him intimately in touch with that culture.

He was ordained in 1955 and eventually assigned to travel to New York. He had to learn English. He still speaks with a noticeable Slavic accent.

In July of 1957, he went to Port Townsend, Wash., to minister to Russians there. In November of that year, he came to San Francisco for the first time to assist the Rev. Andrei Urusov at the San Francisco center, which had been established at the Lake Street location the year before.

By 1958, Father Patzelt was working full-time with Father Urusov in a ministry devoted to furthering the Catholic Church's Byzantine Rite in the Bay Area.

When Father Urusov left the Jesuit Orderin 1967. Father Patzelt took over as a one-man liaison to the Russians in this

Patzelt is quick to emphasize that the center is open to Russians of all regligious persuasions

As one might expect, the center is also a resource place where interested persons can obtain information about the Soviet Union and about communism.

Although there is a tradition of mysticism in the Byzantine Rite, Father Patzelt says he didn't become interested in the possibilities of demonism, possession and the rest until early in the last decade. He says he chanced upon a book devoted to the subject and it made a profound impression on him. As he studied this topic, his interest became known to a group of Carmelite nuns in Marin County to whom he ministered on weekends.

When the Daly City family came to the nuns for help, they sought out Father Patzelt

His ensuing efforts are well-documented. Father Patzelt didn't try to keep the case a total secret. He wrote an account of it for a Jesuit newsletter in the fall of 1973. The case was also discussed twice on a Bay Area radio show in October of that year But, not until the film "The Exorcist" was shown did local journalists begin to express an interest in the matter.

displeased with the flood of publicity generated by the story. He has written: "The gains from all the unexpected publicity are far beyond any expectations. Many lapsed Catholics have returned upon hearing of the case, proof of the fact that the devil really does exist. The devil and his wiles have been exposed and countless people - including clergy - believe again in the reality of the devil."

He points out today, "The devil is a reality no matter what people might

He states that he is currently working on a case so strange that "it would make the book ("The Exorcist") appear pale. Clearly. Father Patzelt's work is far

It's a Wealthy County But Schools Are Hurting

The grim news is beginning to manifest itself again. Most public school districts in San Mateo County are hurting financially

This may sound odd in a county which is among the most affluent in California but it is true nonetheless.

Ironically, the main reason these districts are in fiscal trouble is because of the county's wealth. Recent state legislation, particu-

Oceana Spikes Win Crucial Meet

Three unbeaten MPL teams stayed on collision courses. Oceana won a crucial NPL meet with the aid of two big upsets by the same runner and four Carlmont pole vaulters tied for a win - at three feet - in Thursday's prep track

Mills. Capuchino and Crestmoor upped their MPL marks to 2-0. Mills topped San Mateo 85-51, Crestmoor beat Hillsdale 77-59 and Cap knocked off Aragon, 79-57.

Oceana runner Whitney Jacobs upset Serramonte ace Ron Kennedy in two races: the Sharks won 99-36 and established themselves as NPL favorites. South San Francisco downed Terra Nova 81-55 and Westmoor beat El Camino 97-39. In the SPAL Carlmont romped over Ravenswood 128-8: Ravenswood's pole vault pit was so dangerous that Carlmont vaulters, facing no competition, hopped over a bar set wastebasket height and split the points. San Carlos lost to powerful Woodside 79-57.

Menlo School lost to Moreau 65-57, but Beau Willis turned in a section leading 1:55.8 half mile (St. Francis' Mike Kasser has gone faster on a leadoff relay leg), and junior Tom Schreck ran a 4:31.1 mile.

San Mateo, led by junior Bob Foulke, swept the 100 and 220. but had weaknesses elsewhere that Mills, with good depth, exploited. The Vikings swept the mile and pole vault, and nailed down the first two places in the high hurdles, half mile, low hurdles, discus, high jump and pole vault.

Cap got a strong effort from Kem Jensen, who ran on both winning relays, won the shot, and heaved the discus 159-112, the seventh best mark in the CCS this season. Jensen threw 157-plus in the Section meet last year, and has done 178 in practice.

Jay Ashley doubled for the Mustangs in the sprints, and promising Vini Perrone picked up valuable points.

Hillsdale got its usual double wins - Luther Jackson in the hurdles and Rob Barnett in the distance races. but Crestmoor depth carried the day.

Oceana came up with perhaps the best dual meet performance of the season in the win over Serramonte, a team with little depth but strong individuals.

The Shark 440 relay team clocked 44.0, the best in the section up to yesterday, Bill LaForge romped to a halfmile win in 2:00.4 and switched to tie teammate Bob Powell in an even easier two-mile win.

Jacobs beat Kennedy in one of Kennedy's specialties, the low hurdles, and edged Kennedy 10.0 to 10.1 in the hurdles. Kennedy has run 9.9; 10.0 is the third-best time in the Section. Powell came back to win the mile in 4:39.2, and weight man stayed with CCS leaders by putting the shot 53.61.2.

South City soph Bob Luster won his sprints and came from 35 yards behind to anchor a mile relay win. Dan John came up with his best discus performance of the year. Bob Ranuio won the high hurdles and finished second in the lows.

Westmoor's Frank Ahsue won the high hurdles and high jump. Sophs Terry Hartsfield and Ken Espina each doubled, and both ran on the winning 440 relay

Le Pacini SF State Sports

San Mateo County kids should have quite an impact on San Francisco State University spring sports fortunes this

About one-third of the varsity baseball roster consists of local kids

Da e Azzopardi, junior shortstop-outfielder from San Bruno, who attended Crestmoor High and Skyline College; Pat Tolentino, a junior second baseman also from San Bruno, who attended South San Francisco High and Skyline: John Armstrong, a catcher and another San Brunan who also attended Skyline, but spent his prep days at Oceana; outfielder Rick Newman, a Daly City junior from Serramonte and Skyline; Tom Del Sarto, a sophomore lefty hurler of the famous Del Sarto baseball-playing family, from Colma, Jefferson High and Skyline; hurler Dan Cvitanich, the Daly City-Westmoor-Skyline kid who made a name in his prep days as a football player; Nick Gentile, a big senior pitcher from Daly City and Jeff; and Rich Adkisson, a first baseman from South San Francisco who went to Oceana High and Skyline.

It appears as though head coach Al Figone, the former Jefferson High (circa John Madden), S.F. State baseball star, and Terra Nova High baseball coach, has been doing some heavy recruiting at Skyline College.

Represented on the Gator track team are:

Richard Cano, mile and steeplechase, a junior from South City, El Camino High and Skyline College; Dennis Dille, a junior who goes in the 880, mile and three and six mile events, also from South City, El Camino and Skyline; junior 880 man Gary Hicklin, from San Bruno, Crestmoor High and Skyline; pole vaulting junior Lynn Thomas, also from South City, El Camino and Skyline; and senior Steve Richardson from Pacifica, Terra Nova High and Skyline, who specializes in the 440 and 880.

Richardson has the team's top 440 clocking (50.0) and third best 880 (1:55.0). Hicklin holds the best 880 time.

CANO IS THE team's top steeplechase man (9:21.0) and third best miler (4:19.0).

Lynn is easily the best Gator vaulter, with a tops thus

Incidentally, when John Pettus, the senior from San Francisco's Washington High and the backbone of the Gator team, ran his wind-aided 9.5 100 yard dash against San Jose State recently, he still only tied the Gator dash record held by Hal Fox, who is now in charge of the San Francisco Unified $chool District's athletic program. Fox' is easily the longest standing Gator track record, having stood for 17 years. He ran that 9.5 back in 1947. The next oldest S.F. State track record is held by Bill Morgan, who ran a 9:05.7 two-mile in 1962.

We don't mean, incidentally, to demean Pettus' 9.5 by characterizing it as wind-aided. But a fact is a fact, and also s balanced by the further fact that Pettus almost stopped dut of the blocks after what he thought had been a false start and that he ran it on a wet track. There was no recall gun, so he took off and won with a diving finish.

Pettus, by the way, also holds the Gator 220 record (21.0), set in 1972, and was part of the record setting 440 mile, sprint medley and 880 relay teams. While we're on San Francisco State, several items which have received little publicity but deserve it: Gator wrestlers finished in a tie for ninth place in the NCAA College Division wrestling championships, best showing ever for them in the finals.

Califorr a school to finish ahead of them was the powerful Cal Polyof San Luis Obispo, which took the team title. This Gators were the only non-scholarship team to finish in the top 10.

THEY TIED WITH Bakersfield State, and the only

Waid O'Connell, State's swimming coach, was named coach of the United States' national AAU diving team which has been touring Europe this month. O'Connell, who came to State this year from Yale, previously was diving coach for the U.S. Pan American Games in 1967 and 1971, and served as head coach for the American team in the World University Games in 1967. State Basketball coach Lyle Damon was named Coach of the Year in the Far Western Conference, for taking a team touted as a bottom finisher to a tie for third place. And it was much closer to a title than the third place would indicate. The Gators missed a co-championship by two points and a solo title by just four. Four of Damon's squad were named to the All-FWC honorable mention list: seniors Bill Drew and Muggs Mulligan, junior John Slater and sophomore Darrell Jackson.

Drew, one of the best long-shooters in State history, (he averaged 48.8 from the field in conference play), was probably the main cog in the Gators' late season bid for a title. Mulligan who, along with Drew averaged 11 points a game, was also a sharpshooter, having a FG percentage of 55.4. Slater, a 6-5 center, led the team in scoring (13.2 in all games, 14.8 in league), and was probably the squad's premier clutch shooter. Jackson, just 6-4, was one of the top rebounders in the FWC and averaged 12.5 points per game.

WE'VE OFTEN gone into individual statistics among Golden State players, but seldom team stats. Following are some in which you might be interested - and surprised.

The Warriors are tied for second with Atlanta, behind Buffalo, in scoring (109.2 to 111.4 points a game), and have the fifth best average point differential a game at 3.2 as enough for 6-4. 6-1 win. Stu against leader Milwaukee, with a 8.3

They have the sixth best FG percentage at 46.0. The Bucks have the best, 49.1. They have the third best free throw percentage, 78.3 (last year they set an all-time NBA record on nearly 80.0), behind Houston (81.7) and Boston

Judo School Owner Chides PB&R Over City Program

only school of self defense walked into a recent meeting of the Parks. Beaches and Recreation Commission (PB and R), hurling criticisms at the department-sponsored judo program.

Jim Powers, operator of Coastside Judo, claimed that the city's four-year-old program "competes with private enterprise.

"I can't charge my students $10 a month if you are only charging yours $3.50. he said.

Powers indicated that the program is draining his store of potential students for reasons other than financial

"The contract (signed by all city-employed judo instructors) states that a student may not continue in the program once he has reached the third-grade green belt level," he said.

'One teacher said he would only teach to a certain level, but once the students advance enough, they stay on." he said.

Powers emphasized that students should not be carried past the elementary stage of instruction and said that even the green belt was too advanced.

Once the students are ready to go from yellow yellow belt to the orange, a half degree below the green, they should be out of the program." he said.

"If it goes past this point. it is defeating my purpose. because they are getting advanced training while getting to the green belt." he said.

He added, "All I want is an equal opportunity.

10 Police Quell SSF Brawl

Four arrests were made following a donnybrook early Sunday evening on a South San Francisco street which took 10 officers to quell and drew a crowd of about 100 persons, police said.

Booked were Bernadette Moloilio, 23, of 107 Spruce, South San Francisco, for disturbing the peace and assault and battery; Timothy Torres, 30, of 529 Green St. San Bruno, for disturbing the peace, assault and battery and resisting arrest: Emily Torres, 19, of 351 Woodrow St., Daly City, for disturbing the peace and assault and battery: and Gregory Torres. 26. of the San Bruno address, for disturbing the peace, assault and battery and resisting arrest.

Gregory Torres also was treated for a possible injured elbow at Chope Community Hospital, police said.

Police said the fight apparently started because the driver of one car "cut off" the driver of another. According to police, Gregory Torres was driving one car and Rudolph Cezar, 23, of San Francisco, the other.

Officer Gary Hopper witnessed a brief "chase" between the two vehicles, police said, that stopped at the intersection of Lux and Linden Avenues, where an initial fistfight started.

According to police, "the situation got out of hand' and Hopper radioed for assistance. While awaiting arrival of backup officers he discharged mace into a pileup of fighting bodies, of which Cezar was the main victim, police said.

As additional police units began arriving, a crowd. estimated by police at about 100 persons, also gathered During the subsequent breaking up of the fight, police said two persons involved, one a male and the other a female, got away.

According to police, in addition to Gregory Torres' injury, Officer Purnell Shaffley, 49, was kicked and received a cut that required three stitches.

The 11 acres in Half Moon Bay are in a narrow strip of beach in two parcels stretching approximately 3,000 yards south of Kelly Avenue and about 400 feet inland from the bluff tops.

The other 14 acres are wedged between Cabrillo Highway, Pigeon Point Road and the ocean just south of the Pigeon Point lighthouse.

The conservation fund on a matching basis has provided over $1 billion in recreation funding over the past several years. By VERA GRAHAM No wonder Ed Vitalie got well so fast. Ed Vitalie is the crossing guard at the Roger Williams Baptist Church school at the corner of Magnolia and Grand Avenues in South San

Two weeks ago he became ill with he flue. Last week he was back on the job. What was the good medicine? "It was all those good letters from the youngsters," he said today. "I had to get well after reading them. Vitalie who had open heart surgery in 1970 can't do heavy work because of fatigue, and any illness is avoided. Being a crossing guard is right up his alley.

The youngsters always make you feel better." he added. And apparently Vitalie makes them feel better, as witness one of the 17 letters he received:

'Dear Mr. Vitalie: Hi! My name is Vicky Dill. It is too had that you are sick. Please get well. I miss seeing your smiling face before school and your telling us to walk so that we won't trip. I also miss your happy face after school - that gives me the courage to go home and do my homework. Get well soon I miss you and your smile. Your friend, Vicky

"You can see I couldn't let anyone down, especially if I inspire them to do their homework," grinned Vitalie.

Even the "pogey-bait" kid sent a letter. What's "pogey Well, before Vitalie became a crossing guard, he was a commercial fisherman, operating out of San Francisco. "Pogey-bait," he or's term for folks with a

Pacifica Baby Dies

An eight-weeks old Pacifica girl died Friday night while her father slept nearby, the apparent victim of "crib death," the San Mateo County Coroner's office reported.

Christina Louie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Louie, 16 Cadiz Court, was pronounced dead at Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City, at 11:55 p.m., after frantic No. B-18698 efforts by Pacifica firemen and emergency personnel failed to save the tot.

According to Fireman Ed Rosemont, Louie had dozed off in a chair with the girl in his arms. When he awoke, he found that the baby had slipped down between him and chair, and wasn't breathing.

Louie rushed his daughter to the nearby Linda Mar firehouse, where Rosemont started mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and heart massage. He then accompanied the child to Mary's Help via sweet tooth, who eat candy before going aboard and as a result become seasick when they see the fish pouring out of the nets!

And before he was a commercial fisherman, Vitalie had to learn how to go about it. He recalls it was a natural since he was born in Collinsville on the Sacramento River. Though a farming area, there was commercial fishing along the Sacramento River in those days. And Ed Vitalie together with some of his eight brothers (and three sisters) preferred to fish rather than follow their father's farming footsteps. Vitalie's father was also born in Collinsville before the turn of the century. As far as being a crossing guard and catching speeders, Vitalie says it's a lot tougher than catching fish. He says the high speed traffic along Grand Boulevard and Magnolia Avenue past the school poses a serious problem for school children. And, because of that, he doesn't hesitate to chide parents who take their children jay-walking across the busy street.

Those are mighty nice youngsters at the school They are so polite, and well disciplined, they show a difference, to their credit," he adds. "You can see why I had to get well fast." Vitalie

It wasn't only because of their safety that the kids needed Vitalie back on the 'Victor' urgently wrote, Dear Mr. Vitalie: Thank you for helping us to cross Grand Avenue. I hope you get well soon because Mrs. Gardener has been coming out to take your place. (Mrs. Gardener is the 5th and 6th grade teacher.) She uses an umbrella, and if we don't remind her to take it home. we will all get an 'F' in citizenship. I hope you will get back soon.

| Delinquency Is Down

Statistics provided by the San Mateo County Juvenile Division show a significant drop in the total number of cases and in the total number of repeat offenders.

In 1972 the total of new cases was 3,067. This compares to 3,936 in 1971 and 3,452 in

The totals for recidivists (repeat offenders) reveal that 1,060 juveniles were referred back to juvenile authorities in 1972. In 1971 the total was 1.115. In 1970 it

Out-of-town inquiries on local juveniles list 66 cases for 1972, 98 for 1971 and 106 for

The over-all totals of the three figures are: 4.193 cases in 1972, 5.149 in 1971 and 4,780 in 1970. Juvenile authorities say part of the reduction is due to the fact that more police departments in various cities are working with juveniles and their families on the community level.

Part of it is simply due to the fact that there are fewer children being born in San Mateo County.

Another factor for the decline is that the adult age is now 18 and cases go directly to adult court.

And, certainly some of the reduction in the number of juvenile cases must be attributed to the continuing efforts of the Juvenile Court and Juvenile Probation Department. A 10-year study of the reasons for new juvenile referrals shows that in 1960 one child was brought in for murder.

In 1970 that total was 10. In 1971 it was eight and in 1972 it was

In 1960 there were $3 cases of robbery By 1970 the jumber had gone to 30, 1971 totalled 59, and in 1972 there were 61 cases. Assaults went from 38 in 1960 to 167 in 1970, to 219 in 1971 and to 206 in 1972. Burglaries soared from 155 cases in 1960 to 407 in 1970, 533 in 1971, and 401 in

Theft, fraud, forgery accounted for 231 juvenile cases in 1960, 606 in 1970, 791 in 1971 and 512 in 1972.

Narcotics brought five cases in before juvenile authorities in 1960. By 1970 the together totalled 591 ases, of which 411 involved marijuana us. Another 194 were involved in liquor use gas or glue-sniffing

In 1972 the same reakdown shows a total of 408 cases of which 311 involved marijuana and another 123 were brought in for the use of liquor or sniffing gas or glue. Seventy-six cases of sex offenses were listed in 1960. This went down to 38 in 1970. The breakdown in 1971 showed seven cases of forcible gape and 31 cases involving other types of sex offenses. In 1972 comparable figures showed four cases listed under forcible rape and 28 under "other sex
